Now or Never for Global Warming Measures

Organizations worldwide continue to proactively adopt measures to combat global warming. Along with the EU, one of the most advanced regions in terms of environmental protection, the two largest emitters of greenhouse gas in 2014, USA and China, have declared substantial commitments to help reduce their GHG emissions.

Governments across the world are implementing rigorous measures against GHG ahead of new regulations due in 2020 announced by the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change at COP17.

The implementation of environmental measures is also a key issue for international stakeholders. With the pressing need to employ effective solutions to comply with tightening environmental regulations, ClassNK's TOTAL GREEN ASSURANCE will be an important tool for large and medium-sized enterprises.

As a member of the International Association of Classification Societies (IACS) and world leader in sea safety and environmental protection ClassNK offers total support for environmentally friendly initiatives based on over 100 years of knowledge and experience.
